- advice on the procedure to follow if an animal is sick or injured
- health check monitoring form, designed by you, suitable for the individual species.

Signs of good and ill health in animals:

- Condition of skin, feathers, scales or coat
- Behaviour and posture
- Appetite and water intake
- Movement
- Condition of eyes, ears, nose and mouth
- Appearance of urine and faeces

Signs of stress or pain that animals may show:

- Vocal signs
- Visual signs

The procedure to follow if an animal is found to be sick or injured:

- Reporting and recording
- Monitoring
- Isolating
- When to call the vet

The records kept to help maintain the health of animals:

- Age
- Type
- Diet
- Weight
- Comments (e.g. Behaviour, movement or other relevant)

This leaflet must be written in your own words and you must avoid plagiarism, copying other people's work.

Use illustrations and make your leaflet look presentable.
